About the Craemer Group

The internationally active Craemer Group specialises in metal forming (since 1912), plastics processing (since 1958) and tool making. The fifth-generation family-run company with headquarters in Herzebrock-Clarholz (Germany) and three other European production sites has a global network of sales partners and sales offices.

As one-stop supplier in the metal sector and plastics specialist, Craemer focuses on in-house production and sustainability. This includes an in-house tool making department, the basis for sophisticated end products, in Herzebrock-Clarholz (metal and plastic production) and Liptovský Mikuláš (metal production). At their headquarters, tool making with research and development and design – Craemer Engineering – is part of a modern technology centre and the interdisciplinary nucleus for innovation.
